DETAILED ACTION

Title Change

1. Pursuant to MPEP 606.01, the title should be changed to provide a complete and detailed description of the invention.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to because of the informalities noted on the attached PTO 948. Correction is required.
3. This application has been filed with informal drawings which are acceptable for examination purposes only. Formal drawings will be required when the application is allowed.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claim 22 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Reuss with Patent Number 5,579,318 in view of Yazuki with Patent Number 6,055,545

7. Regarding claim(s) 1, 21, Reuss teaches a system to maintain concurrent data. Reuss teaches a plurality of users, col. 5, lines 33. Reuss teaches a server to control updates, col. 6, lines 28-29. Reuss teaches a time synchronized clock, col. 8, lines 11-12. Reuss teaches processing an update request with a time stamp, col. 6, lines 32-34. Reuss teaches repeated requests, col. 6, lines 39. Reuss teaches an update order, col. 7, lines 18-19. Reuss teaches the invention in the above claim(s) except for explicitly teaching deciding an update order. In that Reuss operates to generate service requests in a concurrent database system, the artisan would have looked to the network database arts for details of implementing updates. In that art, Yazuki, a related network updating management system, teaches "updating optional data", col. 7, lines 34 in order to provide concurrent data. Yazuki specifically teaches "the reference request is executed .. At the time point when the timing signal is received", col. 9, lines 51-53. When two processes share an identical time, an order is determined. Further, Yazuki suggests that "execution of the request is not held but executed real time", col. 9, lines 58-59 will result from implementing his updating system. The motivation to incorporate ordering insures that a variable ordering scenarios are achieved. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate ordering as taught in Yazuki into the updating system described in the Reuss patent because Reuss operates with updates and Yazuki suggests that optimization can be obtained with variable ordering schemes. Therefore, by the above rational, the above claim(s) are rejected.

8. Regarding claims 2-3, 14, Reuss teaches an update period and related time periods, col. 12, 10, lines 5-6, 39. Thus, the above claim limitations are obvious in view of the combination.

9. Regarding claims 4, Reuss teaches reordering an update after a time period expires, col. 12, lines 56-59. Thus, the above claim limitations are obvious in view of the combination.

10. Regarding claims 5, 17, Reuss teaches an update predicting value as updated or not, col. 9, lines 66-67. Thus, the above claim limitations are obvious in view of the combination.

11. Regarding claims 6, 8-9, 11-12, Reuss teaches user notification, col. 7, lines 7-9. Thus, the above claim limitations are obvious in view of the combination.

12. Regarding claims 7, Yazuki teaches update logs, col. 10, lines 3-4. Thus, the above claim limitations are obvious in view of the combination.

13. Regarding claims 10, Reuss teaches differential data, col. 10, lines 28-29. Thus, the above claim limitations are obvious in view of the combination.

14. Regarding claims 13, 15, Reuss teaches updating user out of date data, col. 10, lines 51-54. Thus, the above claim limitations are obvious in view of the combination.

15. Regarding claims 16, Reuss teaches conditions to monitor shared data as in a user profile, col. 10, lines 59-60. Thus, the above claim limitations are obvious in view of the combination.

16. Regarding claims 18-19, Reuss teaches authentication and encryption, col. 11, 6, lines 25-26, 27-28. Thus, the above claim limitations are obvious in view of the combination.

17. Regarding claims 20, Reuss teaches ordering based on issuance time, col. 8, lines 65-66. Thus, the above claim limitations are obvious in view of the combination.
